First call, first customer make Telcom history

State Senator Bob Jauch placed the "ceremonial first phone call" Monday, Nov. 24, on CTC Communications' competitive local telephone network, using CTC Telcom service.

CTC Communications and CTC Telcom are both wholly owned subsidiaries of Chibardun Telephone Cooperative.

The "first call" ceremony began at CTC's office in Barron. Sen. Jauch and Barron City Council members Maurice Heil and Floyd Van Natta were guests of honor.

After touring the new central office, featuring a Siemens EWSD digital telephone switch, the group went to the home of Daniel and Kelly Stephens, the first customers in Barron to be connected to CTC Telcom's telephone service.

From the Stephens residence, Sen. Jauch placed a call to Commissioner Joseph Mettner of the Public Service Commission. The two discussed competition in local telephone exchanges and the new legislation introduced by Senator Jauch that would place penalties on incumbent telephone companies who do not honor interconnection contracts with competitive local exchange carriers.

During the call, Sen. Jauch also praised CTC Telcom and its parent company, Chibardun Telephone Cooperative, for pioneering competitive telephone service.

The city of Barron is the first community in the state of Wisconsin to have both telephone and cable TV service available from a facilities-based, competitive service provider (a company that owns and operates its own network).

CTC Telcom began connecting cable TV customers in October and telephone customers the week of Nov. 24. CTC Telcom crews currently are working six days a week to complete installations. However, due to the large number of customers requesting service, it will still be several weeks before the process is completed.

When the installation process is completed, CTC Telcom will host a "Thank You" celebration for the citizens of Barron. The celebration will provide CTC Telcom with an opportunity to express appreciation for the patience residents have demonstrated during construction of CTC's network and the installation of new services.

Area high school students included in 'Who's Who'

Students from this area are included in the 31st Annual Edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1996-97.

Who's Who, published by Educational Communications, Inc., Lake Forest, Illinois, is the largest high school recognition publication in the country. Students are nominated by high school principals and guidance counselors, national youth groups, churches and educational organizations based upon students' academic achievement and involvement in extracurricular activities. Traditionally, 99% of Who's Who students have a grade point average of 'B' or better and 97% are college bound.

The 31st Annual Edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students, 1996-97, published in 18 regional volumes, features over 700,000 students or just 5% of the nation's 14,000,000 high school students. They represent approximately 18,000 of the 22,000 public, private and parochial high schools in the country.

Who's Who students also compete for $200,000 in scholarship awards and participate in the publication's Annual Survey of High Achievers, an annual opinion poll of teen attitudes. The book is distributed to up to 15,000 high schools, colleges, universities and public libraries throughout the country.

contract with a ticket broker to provide the tickets "on or before the day of the event." When the broker was unable to get the tickets due to increased demand, 28 Packer fans who had gone on the tour were left outside the stadium at kickoff time.

Doyle said that this type of situation was similar to what Wisconsin Badger football fans encountered when traveling to Pasadena, California, for the 1994 Rose Bowl and problems that Packer fans ran into at last year's NFC Championship game and Super Bowl.

"Ticket brokers consistently underestimate the spirit and loyalty of Wisconsin fans," Doyle said. "They rely on their traditional sources for tickets, but the demand is always greater than the supply. That's why leaving home without a ticket is likely to end in disappointment for the consumer."

The Attorney General explained that ticket brokers speculate on the price of tickets and often wait until the last minute to buy tickets, hoping that the price will drop as game time gets closer. However, Packer fans create such a demand for tickets that prices often go up as kickoff approaches. Rather than lose money, ticket brokers either refuse or are unable to fulfill their contracts. Although travel packages where tickets are distributed immediately upon payment may cost more, it is a sure way to limit consumer risk.

"The only way to ensure you get into the game is to have your ticket before you leave Wisconsin," Doyle said. "Otherwise, brokers may end up leaving fans holding the bag and missing the game of a lifetime."

Doyle also announced that his office would continue to vigorously prosecute ticket brokers and travel agencies that advertise guaranteed tickets prior to having actual tickets to deliver at the time of payment. He also urged travel agents to explain to consumers exactly what ticket arrangements are included in package tours. Many travel agents rely on ticket brokers that may put consumers at risk.

Fans thinking about booking trips to distant stadiums, such as the Super Bowl in San Diego or the Outback Bowl in Tampa where the Badger football team will play on January 1, 1998, could face problems with certain travel promotions.

"We were taught painful, yet valuable lessons at the 1994 Rose Bowl when many Wisconsin fans were caught off-guard," Doyle said. "If consumers understand how ticket distribution works for popular events, less problems should arise."

Doyle said that the NFL only distributes Super Bowl tickets to the general public through a random drawing. The league does not sell tickets to travel agents. Entries for the random drawing are accepted between February 1 and June 1 of the year preceding the game. Therefore, the only way to acquire those tickets is to attempt to compete for them months before the regular football season begins.

Each NFL team is given a specific allotment of tickets with the two participating teams receiving the most. Once the tickets are disbursed to individuals, they can easily get into the hands of brokers and scalpers who are willing to pay two to three times the face value of each ticket. As the demand for tickets increases, so does the price.

The Attorney General also warned consumers about newspaper and Internet advertisements for Super Bowl and Outback packages. Many promotions encourage consumers to place orders over the phone or through electronic mail. These types of transactions can be very dangerous as consumers don't always know who they are dealing with or how to reach them if problems arise.

According to Doyle, fans should protect themselves by taking the following precautions:

- Before paying any money or giving any credit card information, determine whether a ticket broker/vendor possesses event tickets, has a binding contract to receive tickets or will merely make an effort to obtain tickets
- Determine if actual game tickets are included in any tour package and what the arrangements are for ticket distribution
- Determine what a travel agent or tour operator's refund policy is in the event the Packers don't make it to the Super Bowl or in the event you have to cancel because of illness or family emergency
- Use a reputable local travel agency. That way, if anything goes wrong, you can at least find the company
- Pay by credit card whenever possible to give yourself the best chance of recovering your money
- Consider taking out travel insurance if it will cover non-delivery of services
- Do not get on a plane to San Diego or Tampa without your game ticket in hand

Donations appreciated for wrestling mat fund now underway

The Chetek-Prairie Farm Wrestling team and coaching staff have begun an ongoing project of raising funds to replace mats at the high school. The most recent purchase of a wrestling mat was 22 years ago. A new mat to replace the oldest one now in use is estimated to cost the group upwards of $6,000.

Businesses, wrestling alumni and other interested individuals are asked to donate towards this project by making checks payable to Chetek Area Schools (notation: Wrestling Mat Fund), and either mail them to the school at P.O. Box 6, Chetek, WI 54728; or drop them off at the high school office.

A list of those who contribute toward this project will be listed in wrestling programs at all home matches.

CTC Telcom makes history in Barron

A Wisconsin telecommunications milestone was established on November 24 when Senator Bob Jauch conducted the first call using CTC Telcom telephone service in Barron.

With CTC Telcom services operational, residents of Barron (population 3,000) became the first in the state to have local telephone service and cable T.V. service available to 100% of the city's residents from a competitive provider that has constructed and operates its own network. The services are provided by CTC Telcom, using the CTC Communications network.

Both CTC Telcom and CTC Communications are wholly-owned subsidiaries of Chibardun Telephone Cooperative, Inc., a member-owned local telephone company that has provided telephone service to Almena, Cameron, Dallas, Prairie Farm, Ridgeland, and Sand Creek for over 40 years. Chibardun Cable T.V. Corporation has provided cable services in the same communities for nearly 20 years.

Acting on the competitive opportunities afforded by the Telecommunications Act of 1996, Chibardun Telephone formed subsidiaries to compete with GTE and Marcus Cable in the City of Barron. In July of this year, CTC Communications began construction of a state-of-the-art fiber optic network giving residents the option of choosing local telephone service and/or cable T.V. service from CTC Telcom. Telephone and cable T.V. wires were literally buried to every home in the city that granted permission.

CTC Telcom's competitive services have been well-received. Approximately 75% of the cable and telephone customers in the city have placed advance orders for service. CTC began connecting cable T.V. customers in October and telephone customers the week of November 24.

From the home of the first CTC Telcom telephone subscribers, Daniel and Kelly Stephens, Senator Jauch placed the ceremonial "first call" to Commissioner Joseph Mettner of the Wisconsin Public Service Commission (PSC). During the call, the two discussed competition in local telephone exchanges and new legislation introduced by Jauch which would place penalties on incumbent telephone companies who stall the availability of competitive service to customers. Jauch also praised CTC Telcom and its parent company, Chibardun Telephone, for pioneering competitive services in Wisconsin.

According to CTC Telcom Executive Vice President Rick Vergin, "CTC Telcom is committed to providing the residents of Barron with the state-of-the-art services and high level of customer service that Chibardun Telephone Cooperative has demonstrated to its members for over 40 years. The mission to serve Barron has not been without difficulties, including dealing with the incumbent providers. However, our efforts are based on our cooperative principles, which are to provide affordable services to customers who need them, and that's exactly what we'll continue to do."

Due to the high demand for both telephone and cable T.V. service, CTC Telcom installation crews are working expanded work weeks. It is expected that it will take several weeks to connect all of the households and businesses that have requested service.

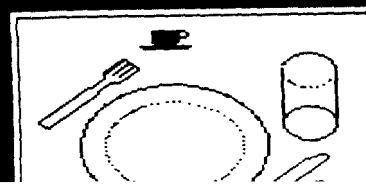

For more information about Chibardun Telephone, CTC Communications, or CTC Telcom, please call 715-837-1011.
